Rome, Nov. 20 .- The newspaper "La Stampa" has received from Vienna details as to the Austrian army, in which the writer analyzes the causes of

Francis Ferdinand, who promoted officers not because of their capacity, but because they were Czechs, the nationality of his wife, or fervent Roman Catholics and anti-Semitics. These were the officers whose soldiers wrote ironically that "one victory succeeds another with such rapidity that the army will soon be back at Vienna, or even at Trieste."

Secondly, there is the confusion caused by the eleven languages of the Dual Monarchy. At least two-thirds of a company do not understand the German of their commanding officer, who has to resort to five or six interprefers. The only language at all understood is that of the trumpet, but if the trumpeter be once killed utter disorganization enques.

Further, to prevent the risk of mutiny, the companies are composed nost instances of races mutually hostile.
